Public Procurement Oversight & Monitoring
Current Public Procurement Oversight System

Each oversight body creates an additional corruption risk
Paper procedures make monitoring system inefficient and prone to corruption
Who is interested in high quality monitoring more?

Tomorrow’s Belief: community & competitors are more efficient in monitoring
Reform’s Strategic Goals

- Process transparency – from planning to goods’ delivery
- Ease of participation for business
- Accessibility for public analysis & public oversight
- Immediacy & efficiency of complaint procedure
- Buyers’ professionalism

Process transparency & data accessibility for analysis are fundamental for high quality monitoring.
Key reform directions

1. E-procurement
   - Transparency, higher data quality, geographical equality

2. Ease of Participation for Business
   - Less certificates, postqualification, e-integration of state registers

3. External Monitoring
   - BI development, BI promotion among NGOs

4. Institutional Reform
   - Complain procedure dev’t, less control from oversight bodies

5. Professional Education
   - Introduction & dev’t of the specialization in education

E-procurement is a key to reforming the public procurement system
Step 1: E-procurement system ProZorro

Ministry of Economy Draft Bill

- Only winner provides certificates
- Ministry of Economy cancels its monitoring function
- Information verification about the final beneficiary
- Publication of evaluation protocols
- Offer content demonstration during the offer opening

Deregulation & procedures’ simplification lead to lowering corruption risks and the need for monitoring as such
How does BI module work and look like?
